P A U S E   A N D   T H I N K .

Go back years, and then some years. When you were little children, you were often told about something you had NEVER seen and yet you really believed it (oh yes you did) - WHY! because someone else had seen that particular thing, and you knew that they had seen it and were speaking the truth. This brings me to something a person I heard talking about the other day - the person was posting some SAUCER RECORDS to another Country, and on the parcel there were some stickers "Flying Saucers are Real" This caught the postal officials eye and started a discussion, which in brief ended up in this style - "You know there is a God - Why of course I know there is a God. Well there are Flying Saucers- Well I doubt that!- If that is the case why don't you doubt that there is a God?- I KNOW there is a God because I have FAITH in Him and have read a lot about Him, but I have never seen Him.- When you say that how can you disregard things that other people have seen and written about and even taken photos of. There are ministers of Religion who are coming out into the open and claiming that Saucers ARE. .I am sure the Editor will bear me out that this is correct. Pause and think. BOIANAI 1959, CRESSY Tas. APR.1961.

There is quite a considerable amount of talk these days as to whether these Saucers are FRIEND or FOE. -GOOD or BAD.- PLEASE "PAUSE AND THINK" the kind of people you have have on this earth of yours - Am I right - GOOD AND BAD ?? Have you the right to say that these Saucers are Good or Bad YOU don't know. PAUSE and THINK, then come out into the Open and tell someone if you have seen some strange object, We are trying to help you all we can. -"Succillihera" my Br.

you are probably wondering who he is, he is not harmful, nor yet is he weak. He is your other self, yet you say that you do not believe in anything you cannot see - there have been thousands before you who have been the same, yet there will have to be a time when you will believe, or remain where you are. Pause and think, have you ever been in a dark room and felt that you have not been alone? Believe me you are never alone, remember the song "Me and my shadow", that shadow is always with you, PAUSE AND THINK is that shadow good or bad, have you ever tried to find out? NO - because you are AFRAID to bring that shadow to life. The same with the spaceships - they are CONDEMNED before they have a chance to prove themselves. The same thing is happening every day, you find a person who says yes I believe that is right, then for some unknown reason he swings in exactly the opposite reason and no one knows which way to take him. There are those in every Society - yes even the one known as the AFSRS. I have met them, now they are in a state they do not know whether to believe or not. That word BELIEVE do you know the meaning of that word :I ACCEPT.

PAUSE AND THINK - Are you going to accept our brothers as you accepted me, you did not know me at first, but you were willing to take the risk, there are others in your midst whom you do not know thoroughly, but only by sight, yet you ACCEPT them, or do you just think they are there.

This may all seem queer to you but it may be written in a queer way for a queer reason for those that are not quite so queer. PAUSE, AND THINK . Take a little of what has been said and weigh it up, then take a little more and do the same, and then add up your conclusions and I think you will wonder why you have not stopped to PAUSE AND THINK -B E F O R E N O W.

I notice that your Magazine carries the Motto "SEEK AND YE SHALL FIND" . You will never be able to find out anything unless you are willing to "believe- accept" something which has been handed down or are you a DOUBTER? AFRAID that you will be laughed at.

As one who has been through what you people would call WEIRD AND FRIGHTENING times I find that there is a meaning to all these queer and what seem remarkable happenings, and so will you if you only PAUSE AND THINK.

===== FLIGHT INTO SPACE =====

BY. Don Alfredo Calef.

Much has been written on space flight and our greatest aeronautical scientists today are madly concentrating on the ultimate achievement of the manned flight into space programme.

One of the things which has caused them the greatest concern in the utmost efforts is the problem how to keep a man alive in a space vehicle and combat all the known and UNKNOWN terrors and rigors of the way which may either make him completely unable to complete his task as an intelligent being .

It seems to me that one great possible factor of investigation could have been overlooked and that is a form of suspended animation , for actually their whole purpose is to in some way make a human physical body so "conditioned" as to be able to pass through and come out all in one piece and still mentally able to function .

The movies have give us some ideas in certain " space" pictures, mainly and regrettably the horror type, in which a man has been given drugs or placed in some super duper glass machine and so conditioned to make his physical body inanimate until a certain stage is reached which then he is " brought back " to the Norm.

Yet actually we do not have to go far from nature itself to find that certain forms of such conditioning or suspended animation takes place , and has been going on in the kingdom of the " birds and the bees" etc. all their lives. and even in the human field we find such cases.

The yogis have demonstrated for centuries that such a complete suspension of normal life can be accomplished , and to return to the lower forms we find that the bees " hibernate" , the woodchuck is said to " sleep" six months of the year ,he seals himself in, rolls himself up into a ball, slows his breathing down , and his heart beat almost stops, his body temperature drops to between 40 to 57 deg. and he becomes insensible to sound or touch, he has conditioned himself to resist all normal conditions.

Ground squirrels ,bats, badgers, snakes , crayfish,all employ and so complete this death like sleep that even a limb is amputated ,they are completely immune to pain and they do not bleed. . yet they are alive. and can return to normal at the set time for such .

The return journey of course takes time and varies some taking quite a process with most of them as it would with a human being .

Man has found in recent medical history that he can suspend animation of life for quite a while by freezing a body and thus enabling operations and surgical treatment to be made that otherwise sometimes is impossible.

I have even heard of a village which put their aged to "sleep" in this way for six months of a year during a famine and brought them all back safely , I regret that this case was not fully authenticated , but whilst highly improbable in the light of medical knowledge today possible.

This brings us back to the possibility of some form of anethaasure to humans as to in a similar way make them immune to the process which they have to pass through , and then be able to awaken them back to normal at a later period when nearing their destination .

Personally I do not feel that man will ever reach his goal of planetary conquest, and that a peaceful one, until he has more highly developed his spiritual qualities, and his main purpose is nobly than his chief aim today which is , undeniably to gain supremacy in "beating the other fellow to it" and the achievement of power for military and aggressive purposes.

But this does not stop us in speculating the means of how to get him there. " in one piece" so to speak and not demented as some have already been made in the attempt, and that in merely getting out of the earth's atmosphere. which conditions are merely child's play to what lies ahead, for not a few already have paid this great price and who know how many more before even the moon is reached and if the greater spaces still are to be ever passed through en route, then, the price of lives can be untold. for the power to sustain life and limb and mind requires a great deal of investigation yet and will require much experimentation .

Could it be then that these laws of the natural kingdom and the spirit can teach us lessons and have been overlooked because of their apparent simplicity . or could it be that when he does rise to a higher level of spiritual attainment he will find the answer along those lines.

In this regard the Flying Saucer theorists have offered many ideas and it would be well to examine some of them for comparison . for we have the following theories. , some of which are quite opposed to the other in thought. in their claim to what the structure of the spacemen are who are coming here .

Some claim that they are NOT human as we. i.e they are pure spirit forms, or ethereal beings. others say they are spirit forms which change into human forms. others that they are human in form in their natural element but by a process dematerialise and then materialise at will on the way this is commonly known as the mat and demt . whilst others say that they are human in form and remain so merely conditioning themselves by some means on the way . as would have to be with a man from earth .

Actually no one knows the true answer. but it is certain that if they are the angels of the Bible as some claim and which to me is the most feasible of any so far . then they would be quite able to take form at will actually using some perfectly natural law of God which we have lost along the way . for Jesus himself demonstrated this before and after his death quite often and if such people live in a state of complete unity with the Divine in their native state or planet whatever it is. then such feats would be common place.

Possibly it would be only a matter of raising the body to a higher state of vibration. and science today is in the infancy of the laws of this , in their study of sonic sound and vibration. and it is conceived that levitation at least can be accomplished by this means. and has been already accomplished in some degree. but to cause immunity to stress and strain to a human body for such a long journey . could be another matter

Another theory is that they are completely human in form and merely by manipulations of scientific instruments inside their craft, make it quite possible for them remain immune to any outer form of harm or destruction. their ships actually performing all the work of immunity whilst they merely control the instruments activating it.

The fourth is that they purely physical but condition themselves as per the movies or some other form of machine.

Now whatever way it is they accomplish this feat it must be admitted that they are at least some little way ahead of Earth in its strivings or as some consider MUCH further ahead than we imagine for after all we must admit that we have NOT got very far into space yet with humans. and the tests have YET to come . i.e. if we do get that far. or to put it plainer IF WE ARE ALLOWED TO.

So far man's attempts have been confined to fitting the physical form to meet the conditions expected by a suit made to make him immune to the expected conditions of their very meagre knowledge and theories. plus the inner chamber of the container being fitted with innumerable instruments to help him perform this and many other tasks.

I cannot imagine with these limited forms of him being able to go much further than the moon. the road ahead of that is so completely theoretical that it is only to be expected that some form of putting him to " sleep " to awaken at a later stage of the journey will have to be devised apart from the time factor. the utter psychological effect on him in so limited a space for such a long period. would alone cause mental derangement. considering the effect on the Russian Col. Ilyushin, who was only a few days out of the atmosphere of the earth. and which was enough to send him raving mad. and despite the U.S.S.R denials to the contrary he is not to be located. an interesting point here in this regard is that they claim he has been sick and confined to bed from June 1960 until the end of Jan 1961, and was still recuperating in Hangchow , China. yet a photo of him appeared very well and happy in the company of other astronauts at a New Year Eve gathering on Jan. 1st. 1961 and published in their paper " Krasnaya Zvezda " the Russian Defence Ministry official Newspaper. yet inside reports confirm his is a raving lunatic. this of course refutes all the claims that Major Gagarin was the first up. in fact various Flying Saucer journals have given us plenty of evidence that there have been quite a few who have gone up previously and lost their lives. true Gagarin was the first to come back whole and of sound mind and possibly Ilyushin was the first to come back alive but out of his mind through the conditions he met .

The story has it that with the col. the means to bring him back on schedule failed and he was in orbit three days . before they could get him back. ponder only three days and he went mad what would happen to one weeks months or even years. ?

This brings us to the question of the time factor of course, and the theory that once we pass the speed of light time does not exist . this is too lengthy a subject for this little treatise. and will have to be left till another time . meanwhile, our scientists predict we will be well on the way to accomplish all these things within the next 5 to 10 years. Well it not so long to wait to see , and TIME WILL TELL.

The sightings of extraterrestrial spacecrafts moving faster than hitherto known will challenge science to think along new "unorthodox" lines. Quite naturally the interests are concentrated on finding out the ways of propulsion which the spacecrafts use. No doubt one or another form of antigravity is used.

THE NATURE OF GRAVITY. We must be aware that gravity consists of two things. Firstly the strong influx from the universe towards the centre of the earth. Secondly the somewhat weaker emission of ultraplasm from the earth. That means that the weight of an object is the pressure from the universe ./ the pushing back of the earth. The attractive force recognized by the science does not at all exist. When two objects placed close to each other strive to move in the direction of each other, the reason is not that they attract each other, but that they are pressed together by the pressure from outside, as evidently the pressure from outside is lesser on the side, which the objects turn towards each other.

UTILIZATION OF ANTIGRAVITY. It is very essential to have established whether there exists any typical difference between gravity and antigravity apart from the direction. If such a difference is found, no doubt it will be possible to separate them. In order to reach results it is quite necessary to treat the two forms of gravity differently and not to do only as now, where very often it is only counted on one form of gravity. All over the world a lot of experiments have been conducted in order to reduce the weight of an object. Many researchers have really attained a little reduction of weight, but as long as the gravity and the antigravity are reduced to the same extent, one will never arrive at a utilization as propulsion. If a spacecraft is able to neutralize the gravity by letting pass unimpeded as much as possible of the ultraplasm from the universe, but at the same time to a normal extent is able to catch the ultraplasm from the earth, the effect will be that the spacecraft can move away from the earth with enormous speed.

THE MAGNETIC FIELD OF THE SPACECRAFTS. Even if the spacecrafts are utilizing this phenomenon, their real propulsion may come from the fact that they are able to create an independent field of magnetism or gravity around them. This field of gravity consists of ultraplasm, which will push back matter in the form of atoms and microatoms (Heat, light), and it looks like the spacecraft emit light, the more powerful and dazzling the stronger the field of gravity is. In reality it is not the spacecraft itself which shines, but the air which is close to it. The gravity of the spacecrafts will firstly push away the electrons from their kernels and secondly in the form of light push back some of the microatoms of which they consist.

THE HEAT OF FRICTION. It will not be necessary with a neutralization of friction, as the heat (microatoms) will be kept at a distance by the pushing back of the field of gravity. Thus it should be possible to attain very high speeds, and the only limit will be the speed of the light provided that the hypothesis of Einstein are correct. The fact is that they are only hypothesis or suppositions, and it has not yet been possible in practice to prove whether they are correct.

SPEEDS BELOW THE LIGHT. According to Einstein's theory it should be so that if one moves away from the earth during 5 years with a speed twice as high as that of the earth, then the men in the spacecraft will discover that even if they have been away for 5 years and have grown 5 years older, in the meantime 10 years have passed on the earth and the inhabitants there have grown 10 years older. But seen from the earth the spacecraft returns after 10 years but the men are only 5 years older. Thus the time is relative and depends on the speed, at which one is moving through the universe. At speeds close to the light phenomenon is quite glaring. Seen from the spacecraft the men are away perhaps a few days but return to an earth, which is several thousands years older. Seen from the earth suddenly a spacecraft turns up from the past with men of ancient people, who have not grown older.

THE SPEED OF LIGHT. According to Einstein speeds over that of the light should not be found. However, Russian researchers have succeeded in giving positive particles a speed higher than that of the light. According to Einstein the light should always have the same speed, but according to the theory of microatoms the different microwaves can have a little difference of speed. When very distant stars or galaxies can be realized only by the catch of radiowaves from them, the reason is not that these stars emit only radiowaves, but because during its way the light has lost some of its speed and instead appears as the slower radiowaves.

A HOLE IN THE POLL or by A. J. Millikan
HE TALKS OUT OF THE BACK OF HIS NECK

In the last issue of A.S.R. (Vol 7 No.1) a writer, who, I feel, for reasons other than those expressed, wished to remain anonymous, wrote 'An Amazing Story', which I have good reason to believe, he wished his readers to believe was serious. If this is so, then it should not be allowed to pass without comment.

The writer says he has already been threatened! So! Does he expect to have his story published, and escape retribution from the interested parties, by merely keeping his name out of print? They would know who he is and where to get him. Therefore this constitutes one of the many weak points of his story.

Let us take the first part of his story - the part about the oasis at the Antarctic. Actually there are several. In Wilkes Land the Byrd expedition discovered several covering an area of some 300 square miles. Samples of water taken showed that the area was merely an ice-free inlet from the sea, which, due to some thermal activity, was a little above the freezing point of water. The surrounding ice-free 'land' was nothing but rock with no vegetation whatever.

In 1939-40 Hitler did send an exploratory expedition to Queen Maude Land - and an ice-free area covering 30,000 sq. miles was found - AND FLOWN OVER. Here again no vegetation was found. A report on the expedition under Capt. Ritscher was taken from the Nazi files at the end of World War II, and from other reports it was found that the only bases ever used by the Nazis were on Kerguelen Island and the Crozet Islands. But no evidence indicated the establishment of bases in Queen Maude Land.

As to a tunnel leading under the ice - that is nothing new - but as to it leading to a hole into the centre of the earth - that is a different matter. Let us study the history of the hollow-earth theory.

One of the first exponents of this theory was John Symmes born in New Jersey, 1780. In 1818 he made his first public announcement of his ideas. There were, according to him, five concentric spheres, entrance to which could be made via holes at the poles. The North Pole entrance was 4,000 miles in diameter, and the South Pole entrance was 6,000 miles across. The thickness of the crust of the outer sphere was 1,000 miles and the lip of the hole 1,500 miles, thus enabling a ship to sail over the lip into the inner spheres.

Fifty years earlier Sir Edmund Halley propounded a similar theory of a hollow earth; so also did Swiss mathematician. All these theories were advanced before the discovery of Antarctica by Capt. Nathaniel Palmer in 1820. That these 'learned' men upheld such a theory does not signify much - their theories were not backed by experimentation; science had not developed the delicate instruments in use today.

Since the discovery of the antarctic, and the exploration of the frigid regions has been intensified, the holes at the poles have evidently been shrinking, but, it would appear, they have not yet quite disappeared. Odd beliefs, of which this is but one, die hard and long protracted deaths.

The anonymous author makes much of the fact that various Congressmen were talked into supporting Symmes' theories, but what about all those, including President Andrew Jackson, who opposed his plans. Of six or seven bills that were brought forward to raise money for his proposed expeditions NOT ONE WAS PASSED.

Now, about the sun in the centre of the earth. How big is it? It would have to be something fairly big to have continued to pour out energy for the millions of years it has been there - unless of course the riter is going to claim it is an artificial sun which is re-energised every so often.

The earth is 93,000,000 miles from its sun, and temperatures on its surface are often in excess of 120 degrees. How high must the temperatures on the inside of the globe be when as close as 3,000 miles?

Are the Nazis planning world conquest through setting the East against the West? This I could well believe - provided there are enough of them left. But I cannot see that they would conquer the world for some extra-terrestrial race, for this would mean that the Nazis themselves would end up subservient to the third power, and that does not seem to be true to Nazi form.

Is there really an extra-terrestrial power trying to take over the earth?

Our mysterious author would have us believe that there is, but that they cannot do it themselves because their weapons are so dreadful that if they used them the earth would become uninhabitable. Well, what if when the Nazis get the World War III started it develops into a nuclear war - won't that make it uninhabitable? What would the 'Zunans' gain?

According to our writer these 'Zunans' have had space travel for thousands of years, and certainly old writings seem to bear out the fact that saucers have been visiting our planet for a very long time. Why, then, if they are in such dire need of more living room, didn't they annex this planet say 5,000 years ago, when the population of Earth was but a small fraction of what it is today? The only opposition they would have met would have been small tribes of people armed with spears, or, say, 500 years ago, when the armies of Europe still relied on the bow and arrow to a large extent, or even 50 years ago when aircraft were in their infancy, and nuclear weapons were unheard of? If their present day weapons are so dreadful they could have manufactured and used more 'conventional' weapons; their mobility alone would have been (and still is) a weapon for which we have no counter. The longer they wait the more chance there is of Earth developing something with which to combat their weapons, and of the earth being made uninhabitable.

Admittedly saucers have been seen in the Antarctic - I also have heard fairly reliable reports of these craft having been seen disappearing into tunnels in the ice - but it does not mean that the theory of a hollow earth is substantiated, or that the Nazis are working down there.

Does our anonymous writer imagine he is the only one who would know what is going on? Does he imagine the governments of the world would be ignorant of it? Would they not combine forces against a common enemy, as they have done before?

An amazing story? The most amazing part about it is he would have us believe it!

For further reading the following books are recommended -- "Seventh Continent" by Arthur Scholes, published by George Allen & Unwin Ltd.

The above comments on the article an AMAZING STORY " which appeared in our last edition is not the only one which called forth strong words from our readers . and we print a few from others whilst we are not surprised we are also glad in that it shows that our magazine is REALLY being read. and that our readers are showing a keen interest in the subject matter of our paper.

Here is what a West Australian reader has to say.

" It spoils the rest of your matter in that it is such rubbish."
A NEW ZEALANDER WRITES.

" My whole soul recoiled at it. By the very spirit of it as well as all I know of God's Great Plan of the Ages, I feel that this writer must be a crackpot of crackpots ---his whole story seems to be just too fantastic to take in , even though we are all the time opening up to new thoughts in many different directions, for if these Dark Devils in the Far South have managed to keep themselves secret all this time , do you think they would let this chap wander around giving their whole show away. ?. Whether his name appears at the foot of the article or not makes no difference to the fact that he is very busy telling his story. and if as he says , he has " already been threatened" ( implying that it was a threat of some punishment, or death , if he told his story ) what difference does it make if he reveals his name or not?. The Dark forces he refers to will surely be clever enough to know that he has been a naughty boy and done what he ought not to have done , and will come along and clout him according to their threat . Moreover what in the world would they have arranged this wonderful trip to their Den for if they did not want him to talk and had to threaten him to keep his mouth shut?. Much simpler to have left him alone as they have done with the rest of us, don't you think ?.

On the other hand any man trying to have a practical joke with simple minded people would be very insistent about keeping his name and address out of print. These points alone make me feel that the whole thing is very screwy, and when one considers the actual subject matter of old Hitler organising a Flying Saucer Army at the South Pole and in the bowels of the earth - with his own special "sun" thrown in --- well -- oh boy, we may as well give up even trying to believe in the power of God , the Wisdom of God , and the Plan of God. all of which are conspicuous by their absence in this man's article. ---- Even his description of Venus hits me like a sledge hammer and my " spirit within " says it is not true. What do you think ? ""

In answer to this and the many other enquirers we would not like to make any comments but rather publish what our readers think and thus get a wider range of opinions than merely those of the Editor. we do admit however that the whole story is fantastic, and very hard to accept.

FROM AN AMERICAN READER.

" Whilst the whole story is almost too hard to believe, I would like to congratulate you on your courage in printing at least a crackpot's views on the mysteries going on down at the Antarctic for we DO know that more is going on down there than we are being allowed to know. and whilst most of this amazing story only throws more confusion than truth to me. at least within it there could be germs of the truth. which confirm many other facts about this place which some of us , perhaps only a few, know from other sources of information. one thing is certain no one could accuse your magazine of not being what it claims to be an OPEN MINDED one. for very few editors would allow such a one to express himself. in this way at least it shows you are prepared to even give the 'lunatic fringe' a say even though possibly it may call forth upon you much criticism."

Thank you. for these kind remarks. Editor.

ANOTHER USA READER.

" Whilst I cannot even give consideration to the writers views re the Hitler Army etc. one thing is certain I have sufficient evidence among my own files to very much concur with his ideas if not facts regarding the underground areas of the earth in which people exist. and for that matter so had. Scully. for we must remember that his story could not be published as facts but as fiction, also much other evidence has come to hand from many sources, and which no doubt are among your files also. regarding Antarctica. and the unrevealed evidence of what has been found already there by the world scientists whose interests down there seem to have continued much longer than the original Geophysical year estimated. would like to make many comments and say much more but I dare not. it would be too unwise at this time. "

So much for these views. possibly others may care to write and express themselves. and providing they are printable. this we will gladly do. even if you do not concur with the writer may be you have some facts or views re this place. lets have them our readers we KNOW are more than interested in the subject. and for that so are many others. Editor.

OVERSEAS VISITOR WELCOMED IN ADELAIDE.

It was with great pleasure we met and welcomed Mrs Gladys Rydon of Tanganyika. who unexpectedly called at H.Q. and met the President and who had such a remarkable and very interesting story to relate of her experiences.

The President was so impressed with her story that although time was very short in her stay in Adelaide. yet something should be done to in some way at least get her to meet the local folk as much as possible. The phones rang hot for over twelve hours and a special meeting was called of those we could contact on so short a notice and so with a group of thirty late on Tuesday the 20th. June between 5.30 and 7.p.m. we were able to have a hurried basket tea and sit and listen to this very gracious lady's message to us. It certainly was something we would not have missed. We learned a lot about events in her home country where she lives very near to Mt. Kilimanjaro. and the saucer sightings there.

Our only regret was that we could not have heard more and that so many were unable to get there at so short a notice or be contacted.

MANY WATCH SKY. Brisbane Jun.5. ---- Sixty people today watched "a silvery red sphere" perform aerobatics in a CLEAR sky over Millaa Millaa, 45 miles west of Innisfail. The local police constable, 40 school children, and local businessmen watched the object for almost three and a half hours. The TAAF base at Townsville "scrambled" a trainer aircraft, but it arrived after the object had disappeared. Two farmers 7 miles from Millaa Millaa said they HEARD a plane engine and looked up to see an OBJECT HANGING MIDWAY BETWEEN THE HORIZON AND THE ZENITH. The constable from Millaa Millaa said "Through binoculars it looked like a silver sphere, about six inches across, and it turned to become cone shaped with half its length, at the narrow end a red colour. At 1.23 p.m. it started to move slowly away, and suddenly it accelerated right across the sky to the east. By this time he had been joined by about 20 other people among whom were some of the town's leading lights. Eventually the object moved away to the west and sank quickly out of sight below the horizon at 2.50 p.m.

SYDNEY June 5. Four men who work on a sheep station claimed to-day that they had seen "saucershaped objects darting out from a glowing sphere" in the sky last Wednesday while they were with a party of eight working on Toompang property, 5 miles west of Young, Southwestern NSW.

The Universities of Australia and New Zealand seem to be trying very hard to see if they can prove that there is life out in space. For instance we have the source of life on earth and life in outer space. These experiments are being carried out in the Victoria University, Wellington NZ. Passing arcs of 20,000 volts of electricity through liquids and gases simulating the early earth's primeval atmosphere, has succeeded in evolving complex hydro-carbon molecules which he believes are the forerunners of protein, a vital component of living substances. Another is working on a carbon-containing meteorite which fell in Wanganui in 1902. He is working toward a thesis that life on earth has been brought by complex organic molecules from another planet in the solar system. One of the compounds brought to earth inside a meteorite has been linked by a Prof with nucleic acid. This acid is the basis of such living things as the human chromosome, which determines the hereditary factors passed from parent to child, and in fact, forms the blueprint for the child's growth.

New York April 6. Scientists at the Institute of Health were growing little "bugs" which they believed, might have come from another world.

The particles in the shape of twisted rods between 8 and 16 millioneths of an inch long, came from the inside of a meteorite which fell at Murray, Kentucky, in 1950.

They are unlike any terrestrial organisms the scientists who discovered them have ever seen.

On March 16 a team of scientists from Fordham Univ. and the Esso Research and Engineering Coy. announced that they had found waxy compounds, like those occurring in butter and the skin of some fruits, inside a fragment of a meteorite which fell near Orgueil, France in 1864.

KALGOORLIE.W.A. April 27 ? Kalgoorlie and Boulder were startled by a fireball and an earth tremor. The fireball brightly lit the twin cities at about 4:15 a.m. and the earth tremor shook buildings over a wide area at 12.15 p.m. At least five separate parties, including two partrolling policemen, saw a flaming orange object south east of the town. The object was reported to have exploded soundlessly in a shower of sparks about 50 miles from Kalgoorlie.

"SAUCERS". Cressy Tasmania. The Rev Lionel Browning, Methodist minister, claimed to have seen eight flying saucers and a cigar shaped mother ship over Cressy about 6 p.m. on Oct 4th. Now thw Air Force has now (after all this time to think up something) reported that the phenomenon was caused by MOON REFLECTIONS and the presence of scud type clouds. (Who has been having moonshine, bootpolish and metho). They go on to state the cloud moved in varying directions, because of turbulence, in and around a rain squall. The position of the moon and its reflections then caused the impression of flying saucers (How did they know that they looked like flying saucers, they always say they never see them , so how do they know what they look like)
